Brian Muhs

Muhs gave a tour of the exhibition When the Greeks Ruled: Egypt after Alexander the Great, at the Art Institute of Chicago on December 19 for the James Henry Breasted Society, with curator Mary Greuel and conservator Rachel Sabino. He also gave a gallery talk on “Death and Taxes in Ancient Egypt” in the Oriental Institute Museum Joseph and Mary Grimshaw Egyptian Gallery on April 16. He taught courses on Egyptian history, literature, Middle Egyptian texts, and Coptic texts. For the Coptic texts course, he and the students read unpublished papyri in the Oriental Institute Museum collection.
