

MICHAEL B. ROWTON is preparing for publication a monograph on the role of the tribes and nomads in the history of western Asia. This will include ten articles already published, amplified with new material.