

JANET H. JOHNSON'S personal research (for the work of the Luxor Temple Project and the Demotic Dictionary Project, see the separate reports) included completion of her introductory teaching grammar of the late stage of the Egyptian language known as Demotic. She also participated in an international conference in Copenhagen on studies in Egyptian grammar, for which she served as "summarizer."

